

1 Type of Research

The role of social networks in Higher Education is a Basic research in a way that it show how tne technology of internet is influencing social change in the higher Education institutions through the social networking sites.

This research is also an applied research since it shows a positive advantage on the students enabling them to discuss and share ideas hence becoming more innovative and increasing design thinking